Jimmy, Sorry about the loss of your dad. One word comes to mind when I think of your dad, Gentleman. I remember him vividly in my Uncle Franks Barber shop. It was always fun to see him and the guys have "discussions" about the news or sports events of the day with such passion. Whether he was getting a haircut or just visiting on a break from Leabury's he was always a true gentleman. Dominick Cogliandro

To the Campagna Family, I am so terribly sorry for your loss. Anthony was such a kind gentleman, and I will forever be grateful for his efforts in helping a cub reporter look his best, through his work at Leabury's for so many years. Please know Anthony, your kindness and compassion will never be forgotten, and was obviously passed along to your son Jim, who is one of the best liked people I know in the broadcasting business. Peace be with you and your family
