Wow you look just like Vanessa! That smile "which has a hidden meaning " only I once knew. She used to call Virginia Beach vagina beach??? Cause she was fun at one time. Now I picture her as old and wrinkly. Happy New Year Anastasia!!!All this crap on the news about how the world is getting worse and stuff, making people angry at each other..... etc. I was wanting to think of wise words that your dad would say to you with actual meaning and fact to cause less worry in you in case you're being hurt,feeling lost, faced with fear , or anything surrounding those feelings anyway possible. Truth is, shit ain't changed. The world's still the same. It's the news and media exploding up in everyone's faces lately since the internet that is what is making people think things are worse now than ever. Imagine the black plague on media now? Everyone walking around with their masks on picking up the dead on the streets and throwing them in wheel barrels. And they had long pointy noses "like Vanessa's "- shhhh, on the masks... Everyone thought it was the end of times and Jesus was coming down and every other god ever created by humanity since man could write. And when the Romans created Christianity to sustain control, they stole stories from previous stories from other holy books and combined them into one. Bottom line and meaning of this was I believe your dad would have broken it down and explained to you basically, most likely in different words, that you have nothing really to worry about or be afraid of. The world has been like this since the ancient Sumerians, who must've been in awe watching God create the heavens and earth right in front of them!!! Have you ever looked at their facial expressions on their statues? Those were made after they watched God making little clay beings of humans and wondering if he accidentally ate magic mushrooms. Anyway, Vanessa used to like Cypress Hill and dance in front of me to the song "Insane in the Brain". Happy New Year??? Ask all your friends about their NY's resolutions and think "That's nice. I give it a week". Your dad always reminded me of Tom Petty??? So please listen to the song "Yer so bad". Peace! Be good! And just don't drink! Me and Vanessa were going to be lifeguards at one time. I was still going to do it, but she decided she had to buy something that got me in trouble with your grandma that I really didn't want to do anyway. And she pointed me out specifically that she was ashamed of me. And.....she was right at the time and wrong in the future. "The Times They are a-Changin'" by Bob Dylan. And your grandmother used to sing Pat Benatar songs!!! Hopefully still does. And Vanessa told me that secret!
